The ears are always more or less flexible, and if, through carelessness or ignorance on the part of the mother

the baby's ears are allowed to protrude, the grown person can only do what the mother should have done That is, bind the ears close to the head, and let them stay so all night. How many months it will take before the ears lie close to the head of themselves, I cannot say, for this depends pon the flexibility of the muscles, and the person's age. It is a simple treatment however, and should be tried by every one with outstanding ears. For they will give the suggestion of stupidity and even degeneracy, to the brightest of faces.

Sudan grass furnishes good pasture for horses, cattle, sheep or hogs. It is best not to pasture a young seeding until it is about a foot high. By this time it will have become firmly rooted and under average conditions will not be injured much from tramping and pulling by animals. A hay crop can be cut about the last of July and an abundance of succulent pasture secured throughout August when other pastures are burned up, or it can be pastured the early part of the summer and a hay crop secured afterward. The crop also may be cut and fed green with good results.

Washington. - National woman's suffrage became an accomplished fact Phursday, when Secretary of State sinbridge Colby affixed his signature to a proclamation announcing the rat lification of the Nineteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. The National American Woman Sufrage Association held a mammoth mass-meeting here in celebration of the event, and in the four corners of the land the politicians are figuring on what will be the result in the Presdential election in November. It was a day of great achievement for the woman suffragists of America, representing the end of decades of Big ceaseless effort to win the vote. But it was not for the suffragists a day of anmixed pleasure. In fact, for hours there was, so to speak, a wailing and gnashing of pearly teeth, for by completing the act of ratification two hours before it was expected he would, Secretary Colby achieved two results: First-He prevented anything like a ceremony, with speechmaking and picture taking and all of that; and, Second-He thereby brought down on his head a storm of protest from
